PRESS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: July 21st, 2021

Access Systems Receives Governor's Volunteer Award

Access Systems received the Iowa Governor's Volunteer Award from Governor Kim Reynolds during a virtual recognition ceremony held on July 14th. Coordinated by Volunteer Iowa, this award program recognizes dedicated people and companies who volunteer to help fulfill the missions of Iowa nonprofits, charitable organizations, and government entities.

The Access employees have made this award possible by sharing their generosity with local communities and giving back to organizations through volunteering and donations. Over the past year, Access Systems has participated in blood drives, meal packaging, walks for cures, school supply drives, and many more activities to spread kindness. Access Systems would like to thank its employees for making this award possible, and for volunteering their time and talent to make a powerful impact in the communities Access is represented in.

Governor Kin Reynolds stated, "Each of you answered the call to serve when it was needed the most. As we continue to recover from the pandemic and the derecho, it is truly an honor to celebrate the selfless dedication to service. During times of isolation and uncertainty you found innovative ways to support and sustain one another."

"Despite the toughest of times, each of you dedicated yourselves to something greater and growing and strengthening your commitment to your neighbors and our state. That spirit of service is what we cherish most in Iowans."

Presented for nearly 4 decades, almost 800 individuals and organizations were nominated for the Iowa Governor's Volunteer Award in every corner of the state covering 250 cities and towns. A complete list of award recipients is available at volunteeriowa.org.
